Fr. Anthony Wieck, a Jesuit priest of the Central & Southern Province, is the sixth of nine children, and was raised on a farm in Oregon.

Fr. Anthony began religious life in 1994, spending his first five years of formation in Rome and then further studies at the Gregorian Jesuit University, also in Rome. He was ordained in 2010 and has taught in Alabama and Texas.

In 2017, Fr. Anthony came to St. Louis and began working at Kenrick-Glennon Seminary, teaching the Trinity and Prayer courses. Now he offers spiritual direction for 26 men at the seminary and serves as a retreat master at the White House Retreat Center. Fr. Anthony's charisms for retreat work and spiritual direction will benefit us as he reflects on the depths of the Spiritual Exercises which are meant to bring about our own "conversions".
